PALM ECHO

1975

To the Graduating Class of 1975: June 10, 1975

As you are about to embark into the society of the middle 1970's we wish you well. Our most sincere desire is that in some small way your school life has prepared you for endeavors in a complex society.

Make no mistake about it our American society is a complex one. Her problems are many today as we celebrate her 200th. birthday. So what else is new? Her problems were many from the day she was born.

Your education was designed to prepare you for a beginning for this life in American society. It can in no way be determined to be an ending. What you do from here on is pretty much up to you. You will realistically relate to the factors of the times in which you will live. These factors become economics, sociology, political science, history, psychology, family living, communications and so on in the most practical sense.

Our belief is that most of you are ready and that you will do well. We encourage you to work hard, to live fully and completely and to recognize your individual worth. God bless you all!

DEVOTED PERSON

WORKS BEHIND THE SCENES

"Sure, Okay, try, I'll do it, I'll help out . . . " are all characteristics of Mr. Mervin Lentz to whom we have dedicated our yearbook, in great appreciation for all he has done for Palmyra High School.

Mr. Lentz has helped our school from taking tickets at sports activities to tutoring home-bound students. He never hesitates to go beyond his role as a teacher. He has helped out wherever and whenever he could.

Mr. Lentz has chaperoned the trips to Europe as well as band trips for several years now. He has also served as sponser and advisor to the German Club.

As a teacher, Mr. Lentz has been at Palmyra High School for nine years. He has also served as the Foreign Language department's chairman. He has a B.A. from Lebanon Valley College and has his masters degree from Kutztown. He has served this school with pride and dignity and has served us with joy and love.

It is with sincere gratitude that we present our book to him.

MR. MERVIN LENTZ

IN DEDICATION

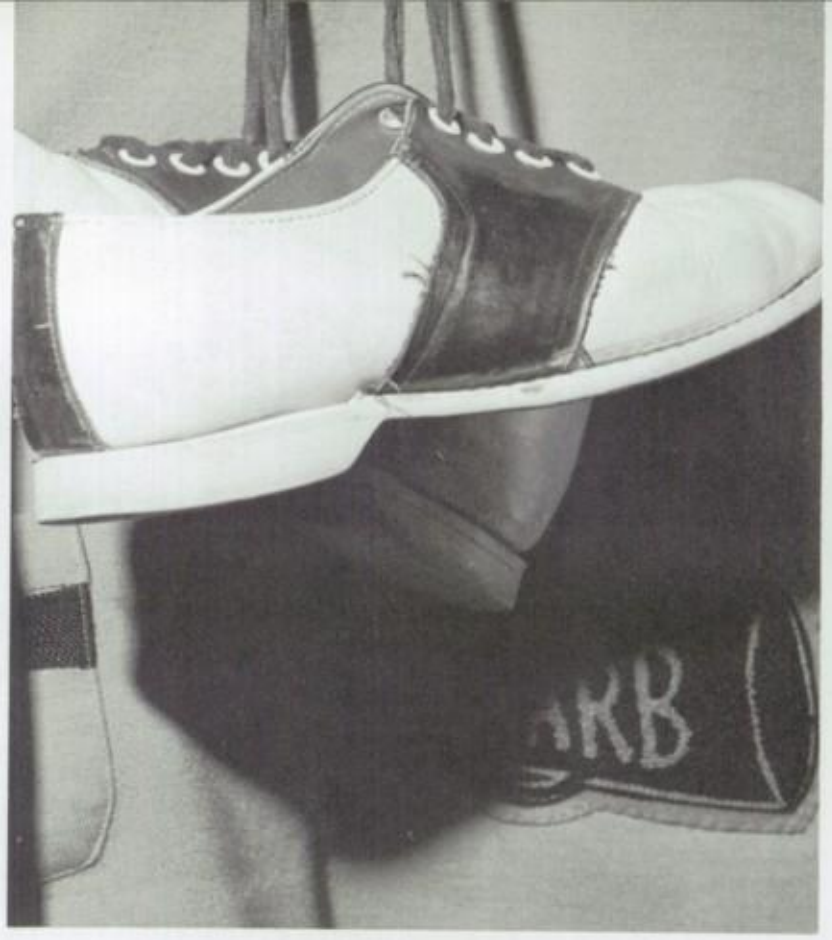
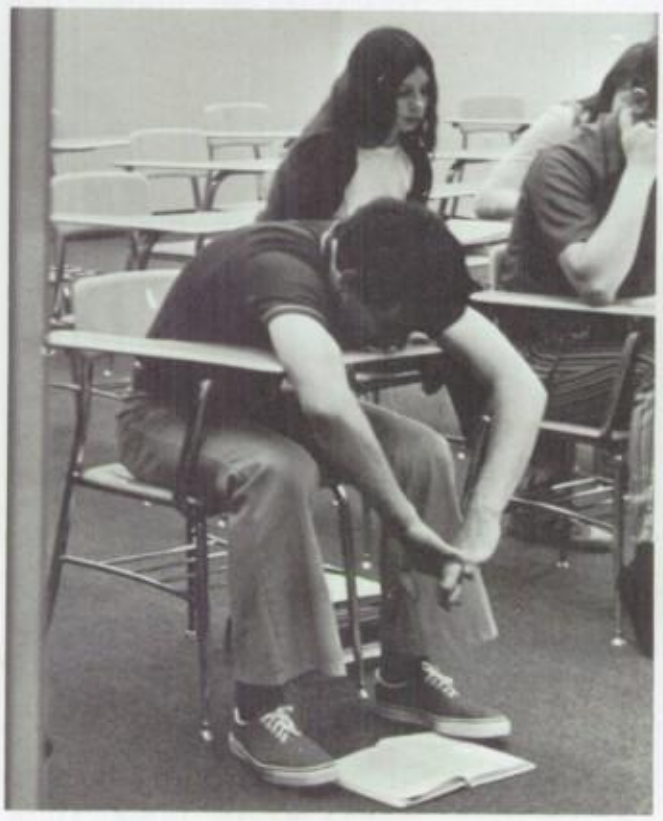
P H S

Rain reminds me of the tears that fell upon my face. With many touching memories of a certain time and place. The ugly face of fear betrays the faith of my belief.





Maybe someday I will know which way I should go, but for now, all I can do is follow my mind.

Of which my childhood ways in such, can offer me much grief. I've sailed the seas for each tomorrow and felt the sting of pain. My thoughts were washed like new spring flowers embedded in the rain.

I have found my life to be too small a room,
For it holds only Now,
it cannot recapture Then or pre live Tomorrow.

I soon will wake and travel on, I have much more to see, my thoughts, my dreams, my childhood ways, I'll always let them be.

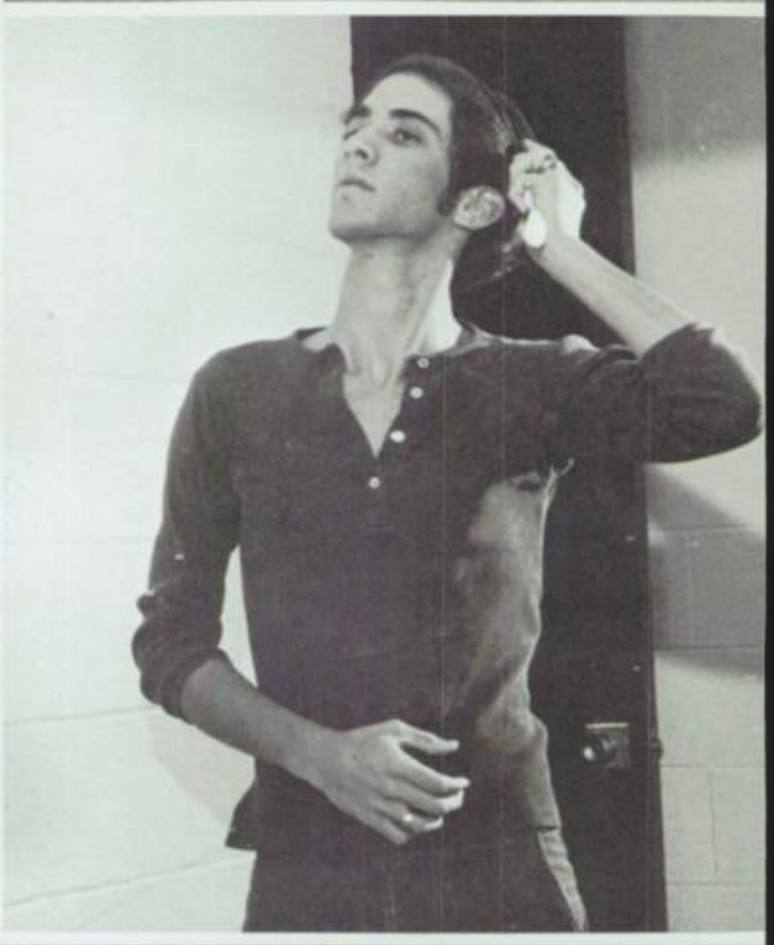
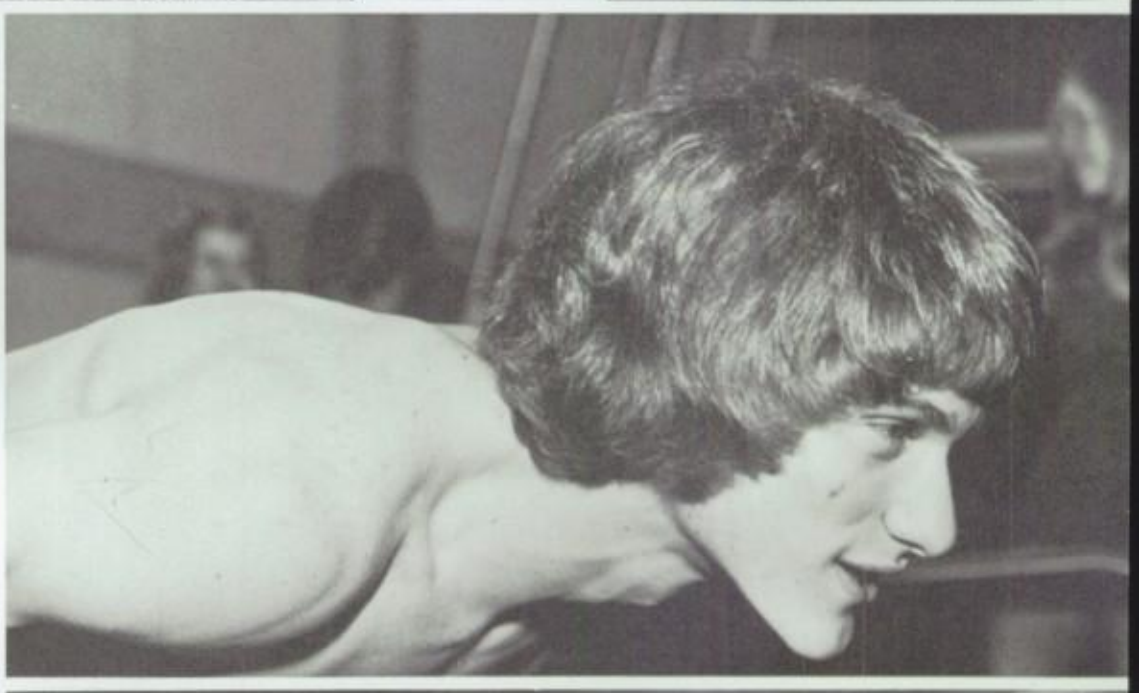
SENIORS





IN MEMORY OF

SCOTT R. BREHM

DECEMBER 25, 1957
TO MARCH 4, 1975

Great! Hi, beautiful!! Three peanut butter and Jellies!!!

Echoes of his voice float thru the channels of our minds.
The thoughts of all we shared with you seem to somehow enclose even our thoughts of our future.
And time walks on . . . . .
leaving us face to face with a world that seems oblivious to our inner most feelings.
So we laugh . . .
We grow . . .
We live on . . .
Yet we never even pretend that we want to forget you,
but rather, like a homesick child clings to it's mother,
We cling to every moment, every detail, we can recall.
Then there are the hardest times . . . .
Times when we melt inside, for our minds seem to retrace the moments we shared with you,
and set our hearts on fire.
Strangely enough, we do not seek any water to drown
those memories from our minds, but rather content ourselves with the love you shared so willingly.
Thank-you.

IN MEMORY OF MIKE CASSEL

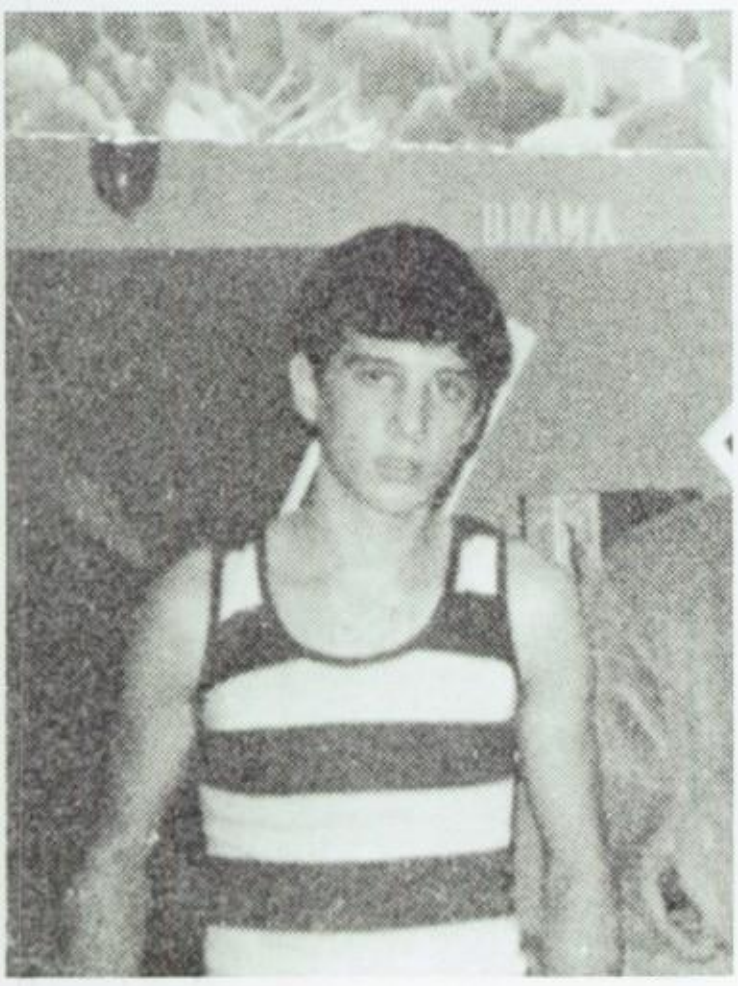
Michael Cassel

Mike Cassel showed great promise as a long distance runner in junior high school. He is remembered too for his sideways grin, his politeness, his love for cards in study hall, and for a book card he once wrote about the best book he ever read.

"Heads You Lose" by Pamela Hall

Are you thinking about getting into the drug scene? If you are, this is the book for you. This book explains how drugs can ruin your life. Drugs can be a bummer ticket to nowhere."

Mike's death, during the summer between our freshman and sophomore years, stunned the class. There are no explanations that can unspell death. No reasons suffice. But, Mike was a member of our class; he always will be. Not even Death can change that.



Dedication

Since love gives Life a short lead

In the marathon with Death,

Devote yourself to Everyman,

Inspire him to hold up his head

And lengthen his stride,

For mankind has not yet answered

Hamlet's question—

IN MEMORY OF A SPECIAL FRIEND

Bill Wilson was originally from Camp Hill, Pennsylvania. At the age of five, he attended Girard College, a school for fatherless boys in Philadelphia. He graduated there in 1941 and entered the U.S. Army the same year. After the war, Bill began his career in the field of business administration with International Harvestor. By 1964, Bill had become a District Manager and was about to assume responsibilities for the Pacific and Far-Eastern division when he slipped at the edge of a swimming pool and suffered an injury to his spinal column. As a result of the accident, he became a quadriplegic. Despite the fact that he was nearly totally paralyzed, he never let his handicap interfere with his enthusiasm for life. He was a wit, a student of current events, an excellent judge of people, and a popular resident of the Lebanon Veteran's Hospital.

The class first became acquainted with Bill through a language arts communication project. A year later, after class members had made numerous visits to Bill and had given a dramatic presentation especially for him, the class passed a resolution to make Bill an honorary member. Soon, it was time for class rings, but the class gave Bill a medallion instead because a ring may have become caught in Bill's wheel chair.

Of course the other "vets" at the hospital were used to seeing Bill zip around the hospital in his electric wheel chair, shifting gears with teeth and pushing the accelerator with his chin. But, one day they notice something different. Hanging from a chain around Bill's neck was golden disc, and Bill's usual smile was even broader than ever. As our junior year flashed by, Bill found it difficult to follow our Cougar sports teams in the paper and on TV because he was competing too, on different terms, with pulmonary infection. Twice he spent extended period in "The St. Peter's room," so called because the next visitor is supposed to be St. Peter, but Bill recovered in time to appreciate a visit with classmates before summer vacation. And then, summer became fall and we were seniors. Bill's thoughts began to focus on Spring. His fondest hopes were to return to Phoenix, Arizona, the scene of his accident to visit all his friends there, and then to attend graduation at our new high school.

But, it was not to be. While in Phoenix, Bill became ill and succumbed on February 8, 1975. In accordance with his wishes, when Bill took his final rest, in place of the traditional shirt and tie, Bill wore a white turtleneck and a golden chain medallion. So it was that who came to pay their last respects saw gleaming on Bill's chest these words, "Palmyra—Class of 1975."

SENIOR YEAR

Destined to be but a memory—
a few fading pictures in a wallet, etched with words that grow dim
with the passage of Time;
a nostalgic smile at the remembrance of an event seemingly forgotten; (ah, those were the days, my friend, and I wonder how old A,B, and C are now? Why, I'll never forget the time—") but you do, and the ending is never quite the same;

OF THE MONTHS

a flashing blur, a cavalcade of events, moving by like a fast-motion picture, which drowns in the hustle and bustle of the Present—cherish these memories my friend, for it is hard to believe that the days of this life are coming to an end, and soon we must be born again . . .

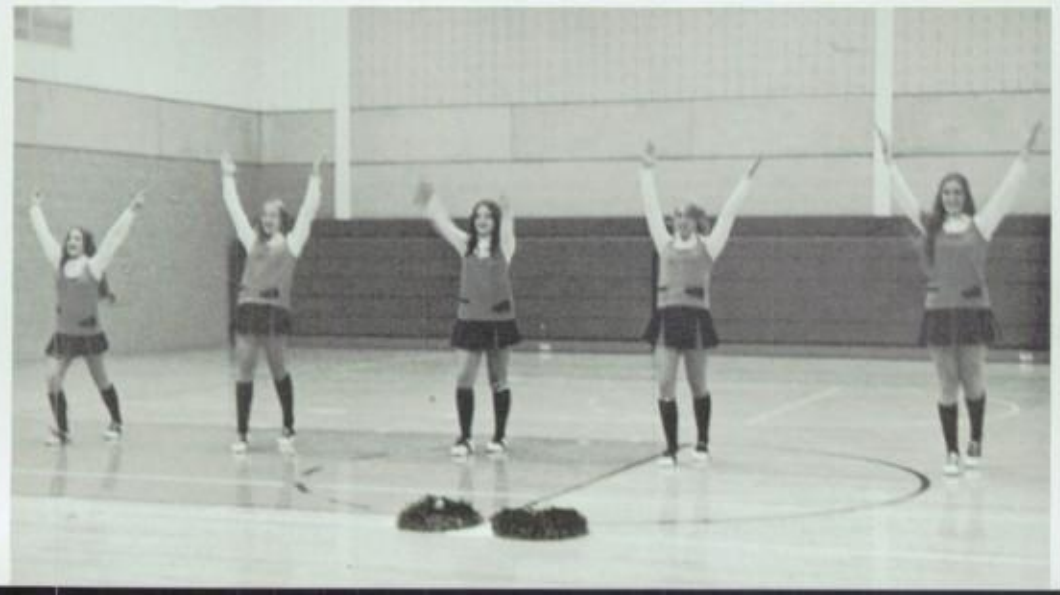
ACTIVITIES



We welcome the parents of our 1974 football squad.

All the parents are introduced.

PARENTS DAY

Get your hands off me!

What an exciting game.

Sharon Herr introduces parents.

This is my Mom and Dad.

And here they come, the 1974 football team.

This ball is up for grabs.

Touchdown! Cougars!

You've had your turn, now give me the ball.

Nothing beats watching a football game in the rain.

Anything will do.

COME BLOW YOUR HORN

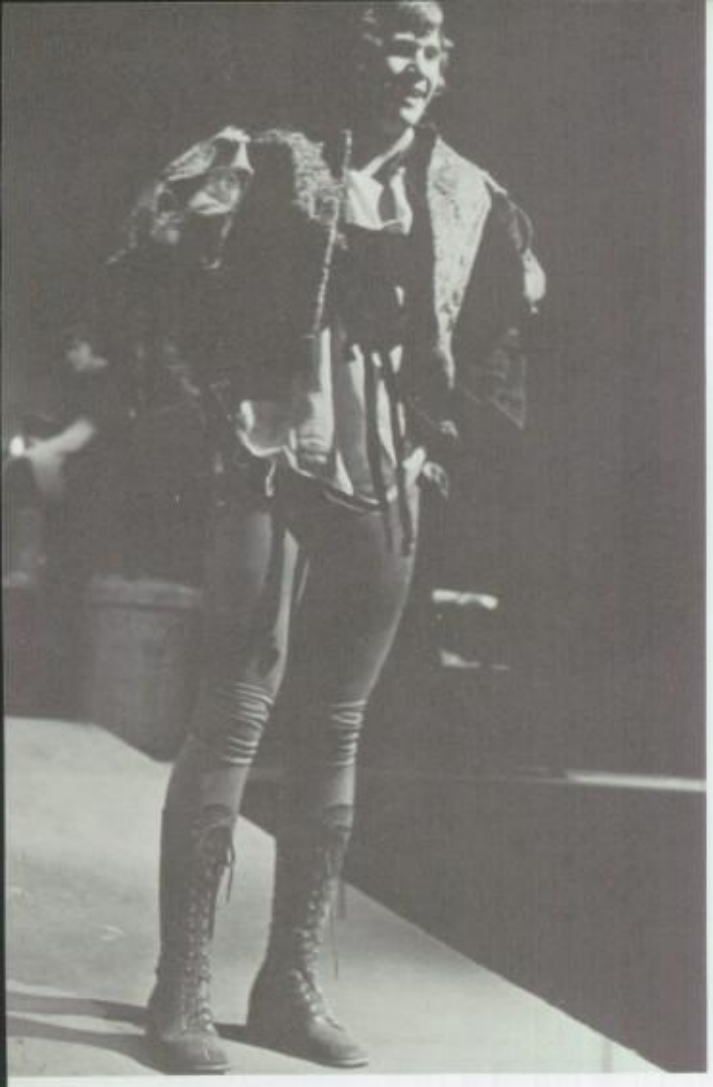
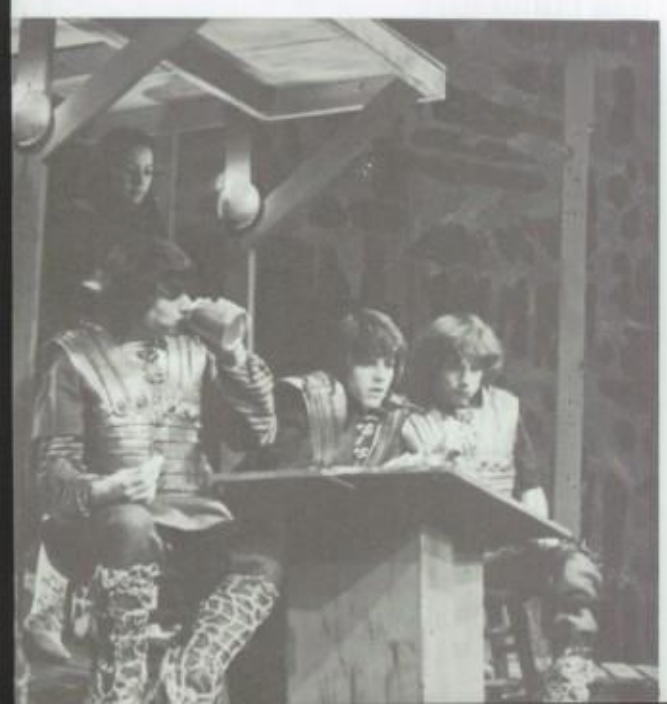
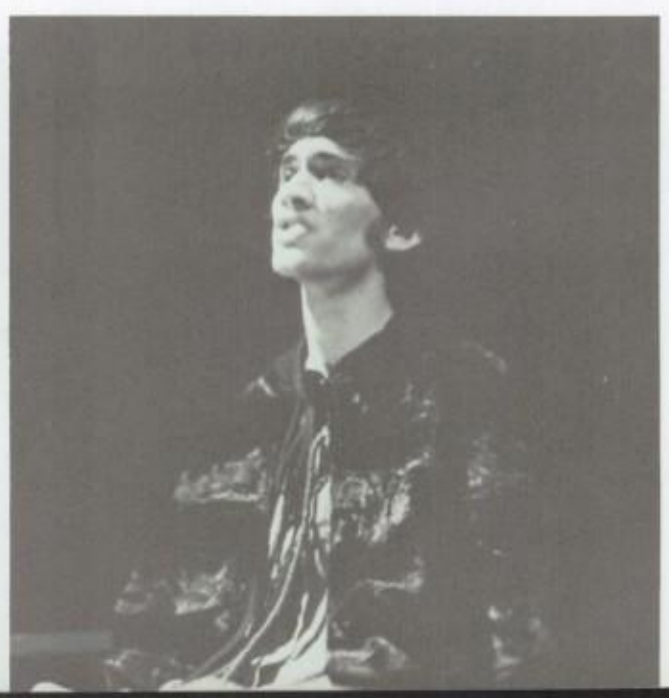
Come Blow Your Horn, written by Neil Simon, was the first P.H.S. Players production of the 1974-75 school term. The play revolved around a playboy, Allen Baker, and his bachelor apartment and the things that go in such an apartment. Buddy, Allen's younger brother, who was very shy, moved in with Allen. Allen arranged a date for Buddy by telling the girl Buddy was a T.V. producer. The play got into a lot of trouble especially when Allen's girlfriend, Connie, came home early from a tour. Things finally got straightened out and Allen married Connie and Buddy became a playboy.



"Those That Play the Clowns" was the PHS Players' second production of the year. The play dealt with a group of traveling players who are hired by Shakespeare's Hamlet to perform as part of a plot against Hamlet's stepfather, the King of Denmark. The king leaves in the middle of the performance. The players are about to break up over their apparent failure when soldiers come to arrest them for treason. Kim Asman played Ponti, the aging leading lady. Scott Brehm played Soren, the leading man. Brian Cox played Kaj and Randy Gottshall played Henning, completing the company of four.

THOSE THAT PLAY





THE CLOWNS

THE ODYSSEY OF JEREMY JACK

"The Odyssey of Jeremy Jack" was a kiddie play presented by the Basic Drama class. Jeremy was tired of being a turtle and wanted to get rid of his shell. In the process, Jeremy went on a journey and met animals who told him how they tried to be something they could not be. At the end of the journey, Jeremy realized he could not change himself but was glad to be who he was.

MAJORETTES

Beauty, rythm, grace, skill, hours of hard practice, and of course a baton all add up to make a good majorette. Our majorettes this year were no exception. Their dazzling routines during footall games and parades showed that they have what it takes. New orange and black uniforms gave their performances a touch of added brightness and snap. Always wearing broad smiles, the majorettes were a joy to watch.

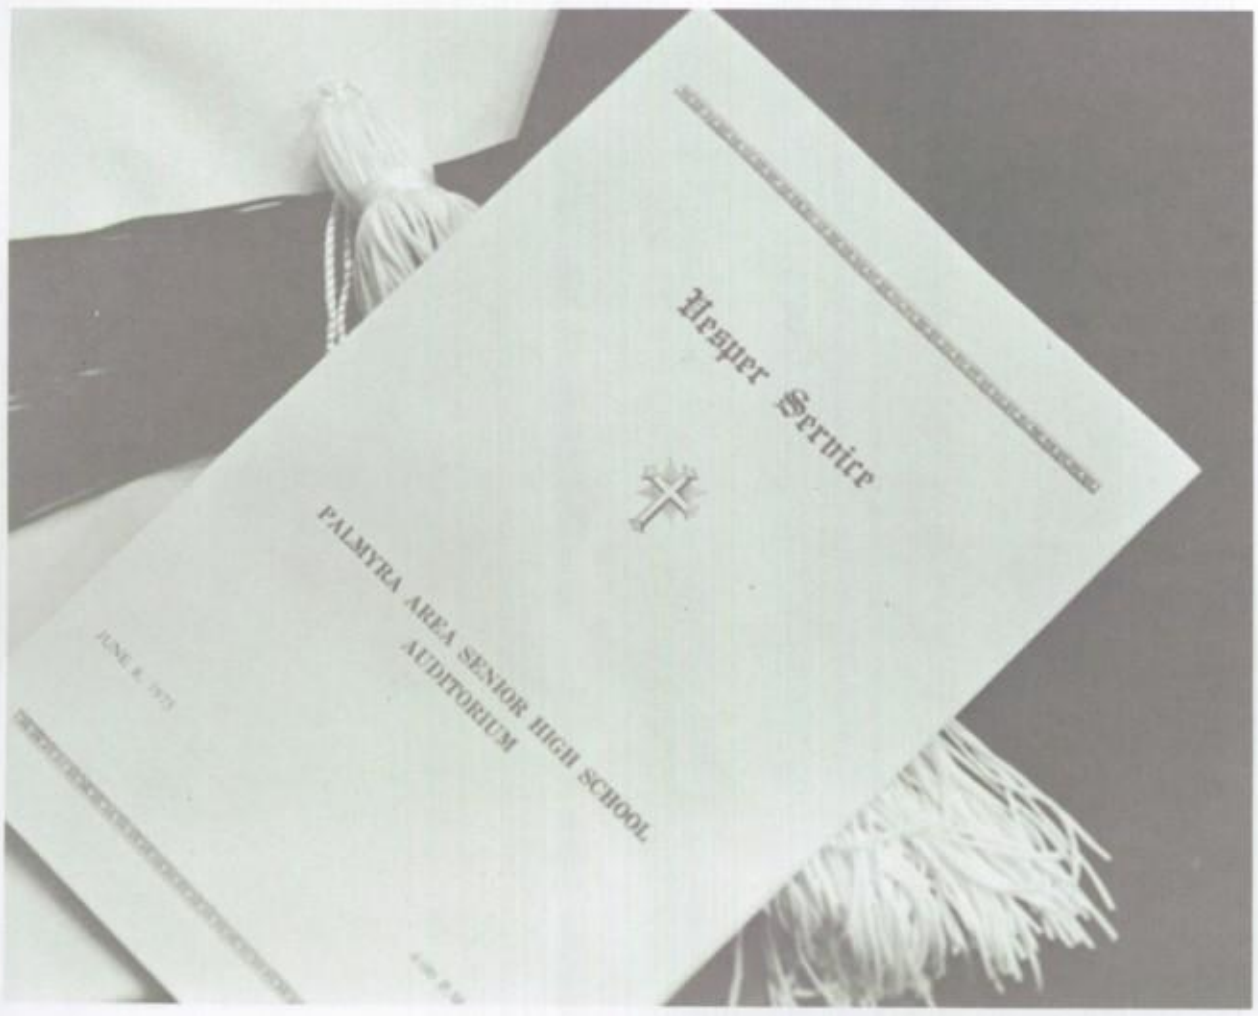
Rev. J. Robert Lehman, Rev. Robert R. Zweitzig, Rev. Donald O. Collins, Rev. Kenneth E. Buckwalter.

VESPERS



Vespers began at 4:00 on June 8, 1975. The invocation was given by Rev. J. Lehman. The Junior Girl's Ensemble followed by singing a selection; Anthem—I believe. Then came the scripture, read by Rev. Robert R. Zweitzig. A prayer was offered by Rev. Gerhard G. Dietrich. The sermon was given by Rev. Donald O. Collins, and the program ended with the benediction, given by Rev. Kenneth E. Buckwalter.

Rev. Robert K. Townsley, Ross W. Watts, Mr. John C. Pittenger, Dr. Raymond R. Curanzy.

COMMENCEMENT

One red rose
A tassel, a crumbled program
And one very important document
Assorted memories, nostalgia
Sudden realization of the end
And yet really also a Commencement.

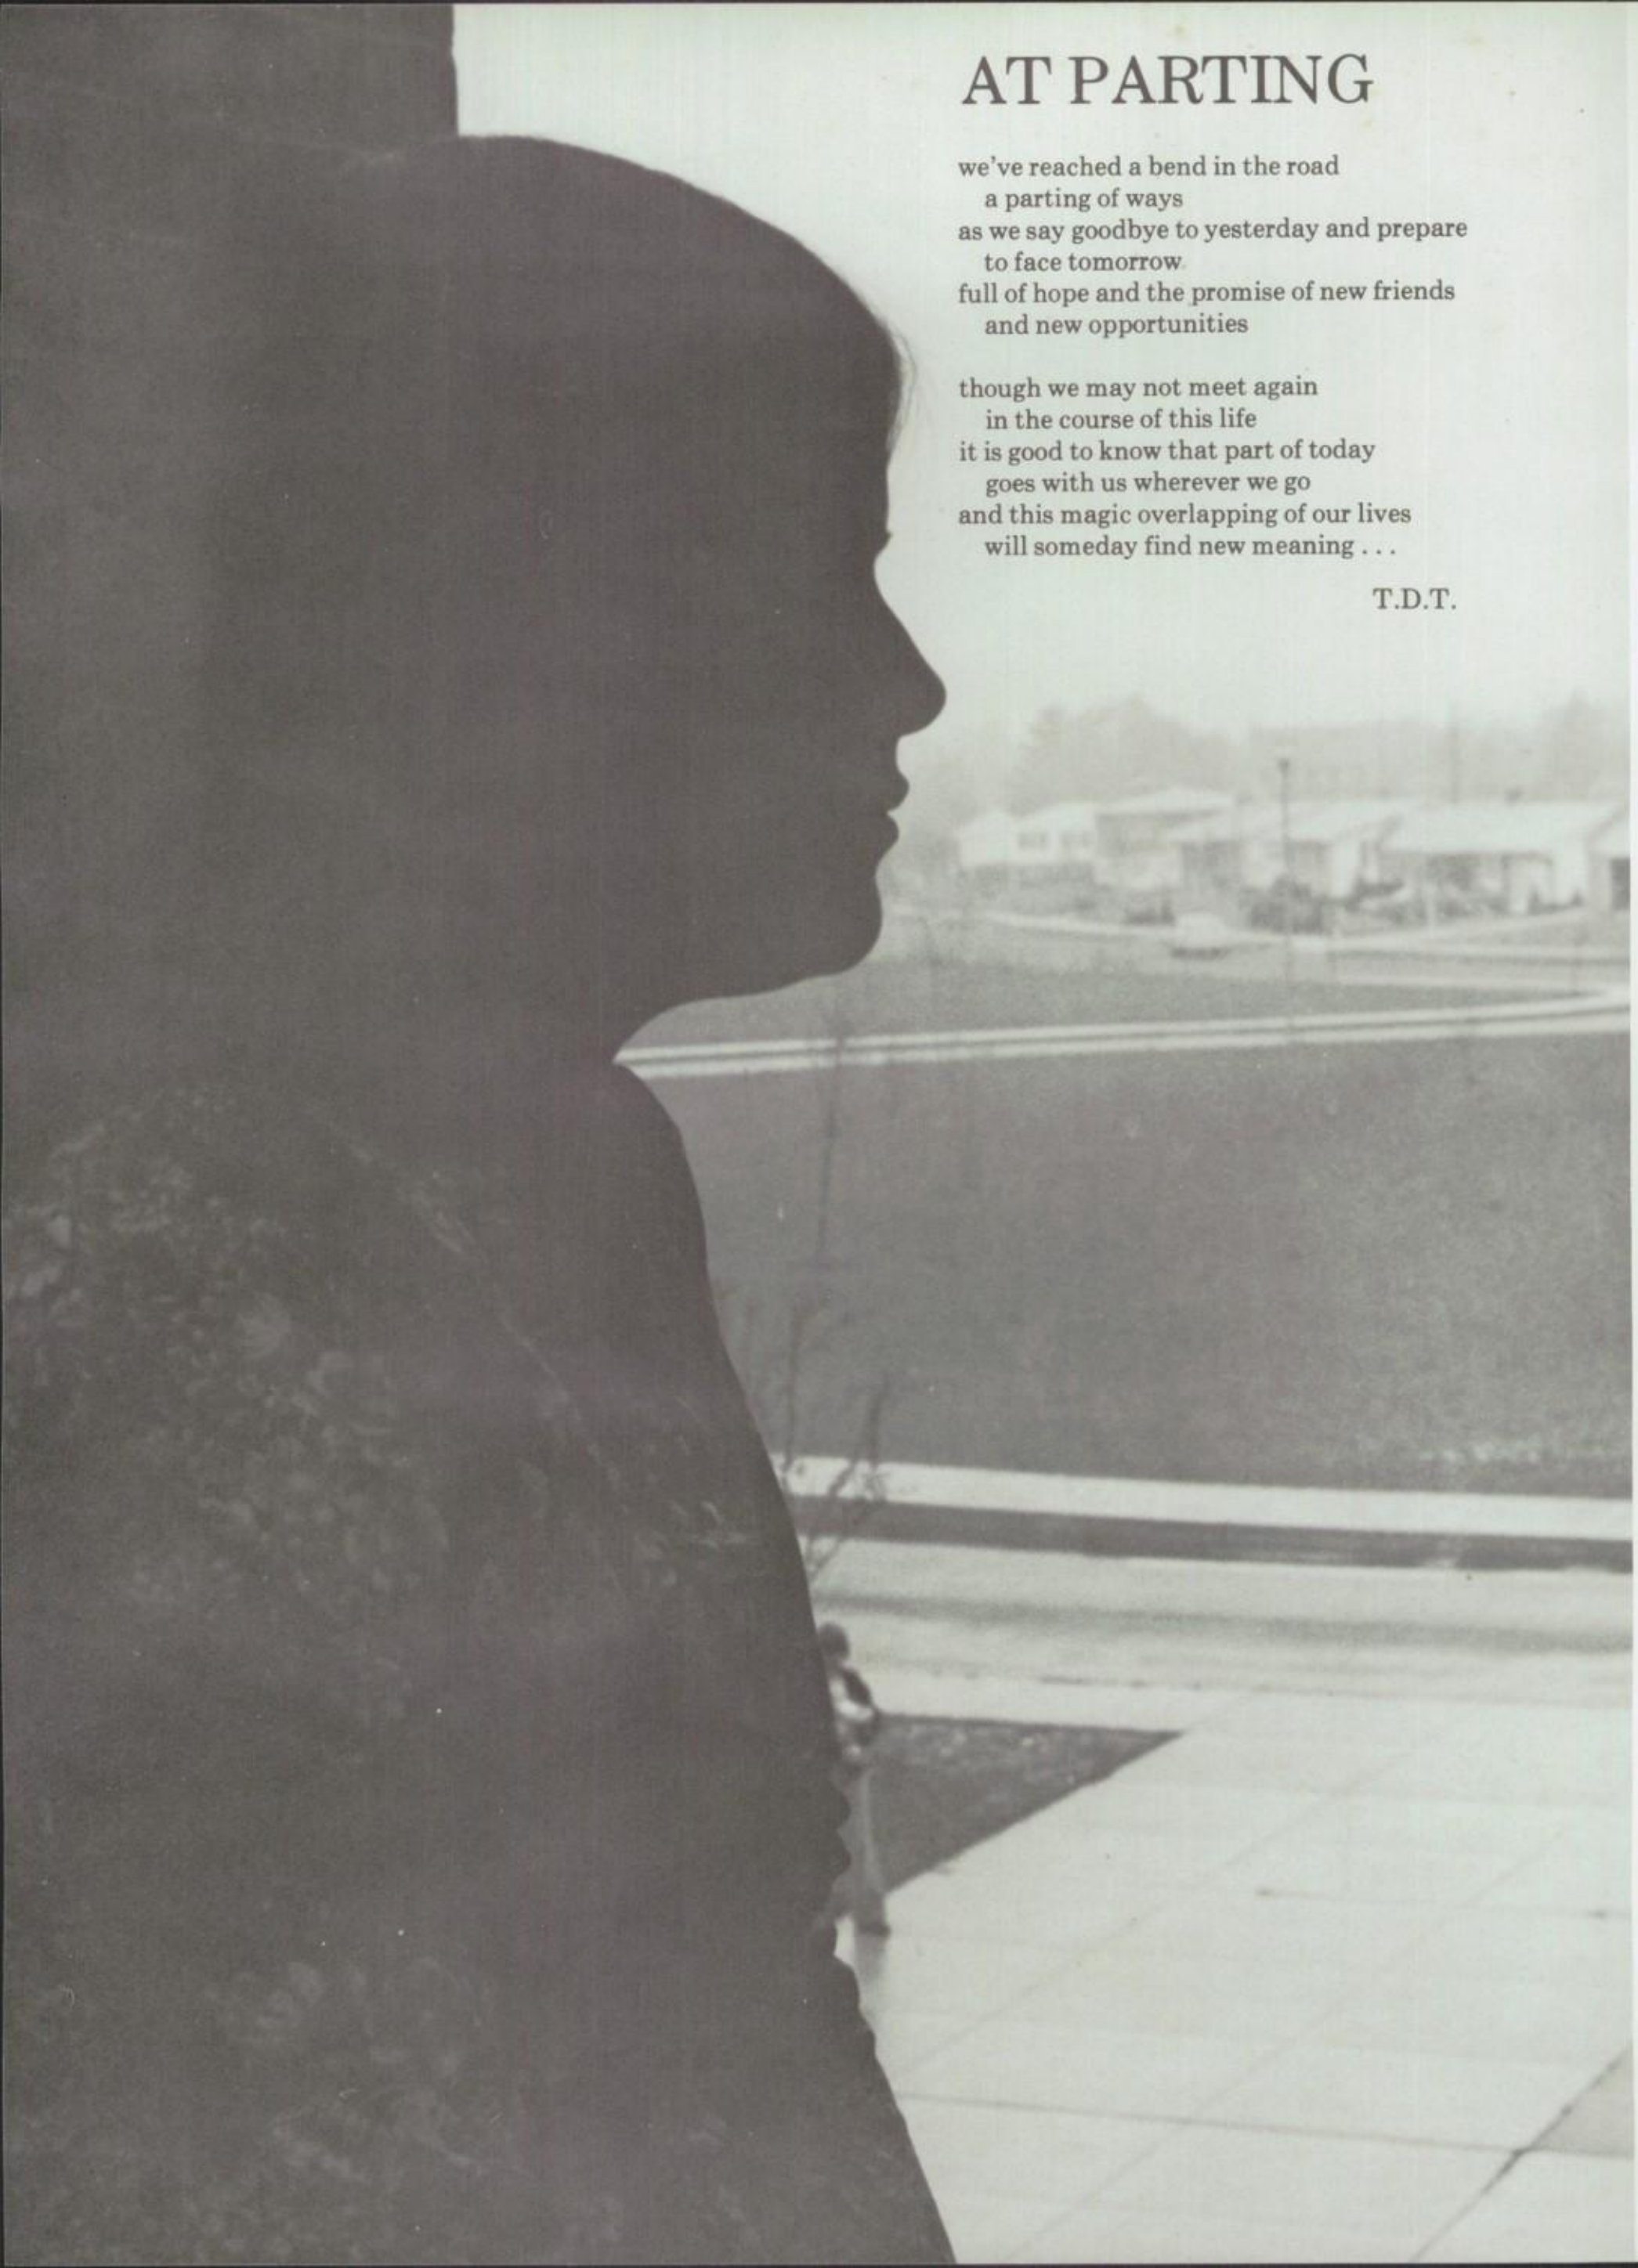
Commencement program opened on June 10, 1975, at 7:00. A welcome was given by Ron Fugate; Senior class President. Mr. John C. Pittenger, Secretary of Education, gave the main address. The diplomas were passed out by Dr. Raymond R. Curanzy and William H. Bolger.



AT PARTING

we've reached a bend in the road
a parting of ways
as we say goodbye to yesterday and prepare to face tomorrow
full of hope and the promise of new friends and new opportunities

though we may not meet again in the course of this life
it is good to know that part of today goes with us wherever we go and this magic overlapping of our lives will someday find new meaning . . .
